

I am in favor of limiting the number of media that any one company can own. Cable/network TV, radio, and the motion picture media are of terrible quality. Only PBS offers good educational/community information. If media limitations are loosened further, the quality will deteriorate more. Also, why can't our government offer more PBS stations, like the BBC does in England? We need more non-commercial TV and Radio. Advertising obstructs objectivity in programming and news.